

THEY "BUSTED" IT WIDE OPEN THE DEMOCRATS START CAMPAIGN

Things They Did and Things They Said
Just Fine.

Mayor Fern Comes Out for Renomination and Victory.

(From Sunday's Advertiser.)

During the course of "bustin' wide open" the Democratic campaign at the mass meeting in Aala Park last evening, Mayor Fern took occasion to announce himself as a candidate for renomination and reelection as mayor of Honolulu.

"Elect me as mayor," shouted his zoner, "and thus hold the Democratic party together for victory." (Great applause.)

What was said and wasn't said at the meeting last night would cast in the shade a combination mass meeting of Holy Rollers and devil dancers. It was fine, and had the spirit of a bunch of fun mixed with a serious jugful.

With "Link" McCandless and Woodrow Wilson as the banner-bearers of the Democratic party in Hawaii, every speaker predicted a landslide for the fat of the land and the Democratic candidates.

"Get onto the bandwagon" was the keynote of the speeches, and the full force of suffragettes present applauded vigorously.

Mayor Fern had wrestled successfully with his ptomaines and was on deck as the presiding officer. He presided with the grace which would be expected from the most recent Democrat of them all, after the meeting had been formally opened and the Democratic bandwagon started on its winding way by M. C. Pacheco, the kahuna nui, or Great Sorcerer, of Hawaii, as temporary chairman.

Opened With Prayer.
San Kalos, however, opened the real proceedings with prayer. It was a short prayer, to the effect that the Almighty should aid with the Democratic party and lead it to victory.

Then L. L. McCandless, "Our Link," was introduced and given a "truly welcome." He spoke briefly, but to the point, telling his hearers that this was a year for Democratic victory.

"The Republican party is broken up," asserted Mr. McCandless, "and the evidence of this is the present situation here and the Progressive party on the mainland—thanks to the Democratic party. The Progressives have taken the referendum, initiative and recall planks of the Democratic party, and consequently all should join with the Democrats in fighting for their principles."

Sure of Success.
Mr. McCandless predicted that a Democratic President would be elected this year and that eventually a Democratic governor would rule in Hawaii; also there would be a Democratic legislature, and consequently better government for Hawaii.

McCandless was given a generous measure of applause and no one applauded more happily than Sheriff Jarrett. "Soapbox" Barron failed to show up. He was on the island of Hawaii, carrying the glad tidings there.

G. J. Waller, who was a Democratic delegate to the Baltimore convention, made the most serious speech of the evening, his remarks being translated by J. M. Pospoe, who balked at the peroration at the nomination of Woodrow Wilson and its flights of oratory and got around the difficulty by simply stating that:

Walks on the Wind.
"It is hard to give a literal translation of this, but Wilson is a smart man, a good man, who looks up in the sky and sees signs of victory, so you had better vote for him. He is a man who walks on the wind and is unafraid."

Mr. Waller told of the presentation of Wilson's name before the convention, how the delegation from Hawaii was divided between Wilson, Clark and Underwood, but at the last threw all its strength to Wilson, thus "coming home on the bandwagon." He told of his visit to Seagriff, New Jersey, and his chats with "our next President." (Applause.)

In conclusion Mr. Waller stated that there will be Democratic voters from both wings of the Republican party, that there will be a Democratic President, senate, house and that Democratic principles will rule throughout the land.

"This will mean much to Hawaii," continued Mr. Waller. "I will not particularize, for you will understand. A few short months now and we will have our own. Do as the delegates to the Baltimore convention, get onto the bandwagon and come in with the winner." (Applause.)

Wants Hawaiian Delegate.

Mr. Waller said that Candidate Wilson had asked him what chances there were to send a Democratic Delegate to congress, and he had answered: "It is very good. We expect to send one. And his name is L. L. McCandless." (Applause.)

When Mayor Fern introduced Mr. Pacheco as the Kahuna Nui of the Island of Hawaii, there was immediate interest. His remarks were forceful, but their translation was still more so. Mr. Pacheco said:

Sorcerer Speaks.
"The nomination of Woodrow Wilson is a glorious era in the annals of the Democratic party. I know it would be so and my faith in Mr. Wilson has never faltered for a moment." (Remarks translated by G. Keawe-naku—"I, as the Kahuna Nui, the greatest sorcerer of Hawaii, favor Mr. Wilson and declare that he will be elected.") (Great applause.)

Pacheco—"The political horizon is clear and the results are certain." (Wilson is a sure winner.)

Pacheco—"The Democratic party is on the straight road to success and both Taft and Roosevelt are bound to defeat." (Taft and Roosevelt are the greatest disturbers in the United States.)

Pacheco—"What are the good people doing to rid themselves of the rule of the business men's machine which has dominated them for all of these years?" (The bum government here is the result of Democrats and Republicans both working for those in office, but we are going to cut them down this time and put Democrats in office.)

Pacheco—"These same business men who shouted so loudly for the supervisors who are now in office gave the board of health $250,000 to destroy 500,000 banana plants and one yellow fever mosquito." (All the officers who have not treated the people right should be put in a big canoe and dumped out to sea.)

Dump 'Em in Sea.

Pacheco—"They have retarded our ambitions of statehood for Hawaii." (These Republican officers who have destroyed our homes now ask us to forgive them. But it is best to dump them out in the sea.)

Chairman Fern reminded the audience that Pacheco was sent to the Baltimore convention as a delegate because he was a great kahuna. Then he introduced John Effinger, who made a bright talk, telling of how the Democratic delegates saw in Chicago the steam-roller methods and took warning, for the results of the steam-roller was the crystallization of the Bull Moose party. He pleaded for the election of all Democratic candidates from top to bottom.

Colonel a Talker.

Colonel Lauka was the next speaker and held the interest of the Hawaiians, of whom most of the audience was made up. Colonel Lauka said the meeting was to ratify the nominations of Wilson and McCandless and it was the duty of all Democrats to support them. He said the Republicans had been found wanting and referred to the mosquito, banana and poi campaigns as a sample of their methods.

Continuing Lauka stated that he had always been a supporter of royalty and the monarchy, but politically he was a Democrat, and although the Republican Delegate was a Prince he would support the Democratic candidate. He spoke at length on woman suffrage and said he would fight for this principle.

Must Expurgate This.

The last regular speaker was Gabriel Keawe-naku and the expurgated edition of his remarks were right to the point. "Hawaii is ready for delivery to Governor Wilson," shouted Gabriel. "We have heard tonight of Wilson, Wilson, Wilson, and more Wilson. Where is he? Here he is—(pointing to a campaign portrait). He is the man who wrote Wilson's primer, Wilson's arithmetic, Wilson's geography. He is a great man and a Wilson to the backbone." (Great applause.)

"Remember that every woman in Hawaii is boss of her husband and she should make him vote the straight Democratic ticket, then her house would be full of kau-kan." (Laughter.)

This was not all Gabriel said, but it is sufficient for the time being and the modesty of our readers.

Altogether it was a great Democratic meeting, although the whole of it has not been told.

Some Present.

Among those on the platform were: L. L. McCandless, J. J. Fern, Judge Edging, Secretary Rivenburgh, Sheriff Jarrett, Deputy Sheriff Rose, E. Carter, Doctor Birch, Colonel McCarthy, Colonel C. P. LONDON, August 17.—(Special to The Advertiser)—The dramatic arrest and execution of several of Yuan Shih-Kai's generals, including Cheng Chen Wu, alleged to be the head of a plot recently unearthed at Hankow, has caused intense excitement at the Chinese capital, according to the Peking correspondent of the Daily Telegraph. The army officers arrived at Peking openly from Hankow a few days ago. President Yuan Shih-Kai received secret messages from General Lai Yuen Hing, vice president of China, proving the complicity of the generals in the recent abortive revolution, and the president acted with such swiftness that escape was impossible. The generals were seized at night and the two leaders of the Wuhan outbreak were shot after being tried by a drumhead court-martial. The other officers were returned in chains to Hankow and there executed. The men belong to the Tung Men Hui party which controls the advisory council.

TAFT MAY VETO PANAMA BILL

Free Tolls Provision Alarms Him, and He Fears It Will Embarrass the Nation.

(By Federal Telegraph Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, August 17.—(Special to The Advertiser)—President Taft has not decided whether he will approve the Panama Canal bill as agreed to by the senate and house conferees. The president told friends today that the free tolls provision of the bill may prove a serious embarrassment to the United States, and that he was not sure he could sign the bill in that shape. Mr. Taft favors an amendment which in effect would permit other nations to test the free toll provision by suits in the United States courts. He was told by Senator Simmons today that it was probably too late to attach such an amendment to the bill.

The bill had been introduced by Representative Lafferty, Republican, of Oregon. Party lines were broken in the vote, thirty-six Republicans voting with the majority of the Democrats and thirty-nine Democrats with the majority of the Republicans.

Up to President.

WASHINGTON, August 18.—(By Associated Press Cable)—The canal bill passed both houses of congress yesterday and was sent to the President for his signature. The bill provides for the free passage through the Panama Canal of American coastwise ships.

CLARENCE DARROW TO FACE YET ANOTHER CHARGE TOMORROW

(By Federal Telegraph Wireless.)

LOS ANGELES, August 18.—(By Associated Press Cable)—Clarence S. Darrow, although overwhelmed by letters and messages of congratulation over the verdict of the jury, acquitting him of the charge of having bribed one of the jurors in the famous trial of J. B. McNamara, must face another charge tomorrow unless District Attorney Fredericks decides it is wise to drop the indictment. Darrow, it will be remembered, was indicted on two counts. His arraignment on the second will take place Monday morning, before Judge Hutton.

Refusing to credit the testimony of Bert H. Franklin, former deputy sheriff and the man who, as special agent for the McNamara defense, declared that he had been Darrow's tool in attempting to bribe the McNamara jury and veniremen, the jury in the Darrow case returned a verdict of "not guilty" yesterday morning. The jury was out only thirty-four minutes. Only one ballot was taken. A short time was taken in discussion of the case and in looking over some testimony. Then the jury took one ballot, upon which Darrow was unanimously acquitted.

Clarence Darrow, who has appeared as counsel for the labor unions in two great trials where members of the organizations have been charged with wholesale murders, was acquitted of the charge of bribing a jurymen in his last and greatest case—that of the McNamara brothers, both of whom confessed to the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building, causing the death of twenty-one persons.

POLICE GRAFT TO BE SIFTED TO THE BOTTOM BY COURT

(By Federal Telegraph Wireless.)

NEW YORK, August 17.—(Special to The Advertiser)—A minute investigation into police graft in all its phases is to be undertaken by an extraordinary session of the supreme court presided over by Justice Goff. News that the supreme court would conduct a grand jury inquiry with Justice Goff having full powers of compelling testimony caused a panic in the underworld today and many gamblers and others hurriedly left the city. Under John Doe proceedings Justice Goff can call gamblers and keepers of disorderly houses and force them to tell how much money was paid for police protection and to whom the money was paid. The aldermanic inquiry is expected to cooperate with the work of the supreme court. Evidence is in the hands of District Attorney Whitman that a disorderly house in this city paid more than a million dollars for police protection in the last year and that this money went to certain police inspectors and others.

NEW YORK, August 17.—(By Associated Press Cable)—The New York supreme court today empowered Justice Goff to call for a full inquiry of the graft in New York city's underworld revealed by the killing of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, and the confession that led to his murder.

The news of the pending investigation has caused the gamblers, leaders in the vice syndicate and other denizens of the underworld to flee terrified from the city.

Great Naval Station
Is Threatened by Malcontents.

Guns of Battleships
Command the Vast Arsenal.

ST. PETERSBURG, Russia, August 18.—(By Associated Press Cable)—

Reports to the war office received here late last night, stating that the sailors of the fleet have mutinied, and are threatening the great naval arsenal of Cronstadt with destruction has thrown the government officials into a state of panic, that is fast spreading to the populace. For a time efforts were made by the bureaus to hold the matter secret, but private dispatches conveyed the news before the censorship could check it.

As yet the demands of the sailors and marines, who are said to be led by some officers high in the Czar's service by some of the reports and by a common sailor, by other rumors, are not reported here. It is asserted, however, that the treatment to which they have been subjected and the quality of the food they have been forced to subsist upon, started the trouble, which according to the most authentic reports appears to have been brewing for months.

Ever since the crushing defeat of the Russian fleet by the Japanese battleships under Admiral Togo, Russian naval authorities have been endeavoring to build up a service that would compare with that of other nations. One result of this has been the introduction of a discipline far more severe than even that in use in the army. This has, it is said, made the navy the hotbed of anarchy, and it is believed here as more than probable that the revolt at Cronstadt is more or less political in nature.
